SNOW CAUSES ARREST

Neighbors Quarrel Over Right of Way

Wolf Rosen and Nicolo Cavolo of Meadow street were before the police court Friday morning, charged with breaking the peace. Each pleaded not guilty, Rosen being represented by Attorney P. J. Danahey, and Cavolo by Attorney S. B. Harvey. The trouble arose over a right of way between their respective houses which has been the cause of difference for some time. Matters came to a head Wednesday evening when Cavolo, on coming home from work, accused Rosen of shoveling the snow over on his side of the path. The argument became heated and Cavolo claims that Rosen tried to strike him with the shovel and that he also struck his (Cavolo's) wife in the side and knocked her down been the cause of difference for some wife in the side and knocked her down Angelo Caracollo, a neighbor, stepped in and prevented them from continuing. Rosen denied striking Mrs. Ca-volo and claimed that Cavolo struck him on the side of the head. Reuben Tucker, Albert Mastin and Mr. Rosen's son, Harry, testified for him, and Angeio Colino, and his wife, Angelo Colino, Paul Lavessa and Vincenzo Gallo, boarders at the Cavolo home, testified for Cavolo. At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Shea ruled that a technical breach of the peace had occurred and fined each of the accused one dollar and costs. Rosen paid his fine amounting t $10.80 but Cavolo took an appeal t the superior court. Bonds were fixed at $50.
